LANDS.SINGAPORE.

Land in the hands of private owners in Singapore is held direct from the Crown, either by lease or grant. The terms of the leases vary. A great portion of the land on which the town stands is held on building-leases for 99 years. The terms of the leases in the country are, for the most part, 99 and 999 years. A grant in a Statutory form is now the only Crown title issued. This is prescribed by Ordinance II of 1886.

The “permits” formerly issued in anticipation of survey have all been called in and grants substituted for them. Certain Crown Reserves are held under annual licences. The quit-rent reserved in leases for lands in the country issued before October 15th, 1883, is 30 cents an acre; that on leases issued subsequent to that date varies according to advantages of soil and situation, but is in no case less than 40 cents an acre. In all leases issued since October 15th, 1883, a condition is inserted under which the rent is re-adjustable every thirty years. Since the passing of the Crown Lands Ordinance of 1886, the only instrument of title is a Statutory Grant in perpetuity subject to a minimum quit-rent of 50 cents an acre re-adjustable every thirty years.

By Ordinance I of 1901 special powers are given to the Government with regard to leases of foreshore for periods not exceeding 100 years.

Land in Penang and Province Wellesley is held of the Crown, as in Singapore, by grant or lease. The conditions of tenure vary according to the policy of the Government at the time the documents were issued. In Singapore eighteen and in Penang twenty different kinds of title are in the hands of the public. Unoccupied Crown land is obtainable on Statutory Grants as in Singapore and Statutory Grants are also being substituted for Permits and Expired Leases. Alienation of foreshore is subject to Ordinance I of 1901.

The rates of rent reserved in old leases vary in different localities.

The following table gives a comparative statement of the Revenue derived from Premia and Land Rents in Penang in the years 1919 and 1920, respectively:—

Head of Revenue.	1919.	1920.

MALACCA.

The tenure of land in the town of Malacca has remained unchanged since the days of Dutch rule. Possession is evidenced in many cases by documents of title in Dutch. Occupied land in the country is, in some cases, held either under grant or lease from the Crown, but for the most part according to customary tenure as defined by the Malacca Lands Ordinance. There is special legislation, Ordinance I of 1901, for alienation of foreshore.

Land is now obtainable without premium if held under customary tenure, and with premium and a moderate quit-rent if held under Statutory Grant.

The principal land revenue consists of rents on rubber tapioca and gambier leases and of mukim assessment under customary tenure.

Appended is a comparative statement showing the revenue collected in Malacca in 1919 and 1920, respectively:—

	Concessions cutting licences, etc.	No.	Area Covered.
Singapore	Timber Rubber Etc.	There are no concessions of any importance. All timber and fire-wood is cut by licensed wood cutters, none of whom work on a large scale. Minor forest produce is also collected under licence.			(a) The areas given are those of reserved forests. There is but little valuable forest left on Crown Lands.
Penang & Province Wellesley	Timber Rubber Minor forest produce				(b) Bamboos, palm leaves for thatching, rattan, and mangrove bark are the principal minor forest items. The latter two are the only products which are capable of development, and the areas available are small as compared with the neighbouring countries.
Dindings	Timber Rubber Minor forest produce				(c) Forest reserves are not at present opened to timber cutting except for special local purposes. It is estimated that when exploited under regular working plans the reserves will yield not less than 40,000 tons of wood a year. The timber shown in the statement above is derived from forest reserves and from Crown Lands in proportion of 3 to 2. Fifty per cent of the firewood is cut in forest reserves.
Malacca	Timber Rubber Minor forest produce				(d) The statement does not include timber cut on land in private ownership, estimated roughly at 3,500 tons.

Singapore	...	5,166½	2,814,250	262	There are no ships or large-sized craft employed in fishing at this Settlement except two motor-boats of about 20 tons each, employed as fish carriers and owned by Japanese. The native fishermen who never venture far out use only canoes and punts. The principal methods of fishing are by drag-nets and stationary catch-nets, fastened to stakes in deep water. Fishing is carried on solely for the purpose of meeting the demand for local consumption. There is no proper season, but fish are caught throughout the year. On account of the prevalence of N. E. Monsoon, however, from November to March, the markets are less supplied and prices rule higher. From April to October all kinds of fish are plentiful and to be bought at fair prices.

Penang	Unavailable	Unavailable	Unavailable	3,507	There are no trawlers or large-sized crafts employed in fishing at Penang and Province Wellesley except two fishing junks of about 40 tons each. These junks had their origin in China and were first registered in the Dindings. They touched here once or twice in a year on their way to Pulau Langkawi and Setul. The principal methods of fishing are by (1) inshore fishing stakes which are fixed stationary in the sea for about 20 days and then removed for scraping and repairing. After this they are fixed up again for catching fish. (2) Outshore fishing stakes are never pulled up once they are fixed. The drag-nets which are made of rattan and attached to these stakes are repaired and replaced as the case may be. (3) Seine nets. (4) Drift nets. (5) Patani nets bear the name of the country from whence they first originated. They come to Penang and the Province during the N. E. Monsoon. During the S. W. Monsoon when the sea is boisterous here, they go back to Patani, Muar and Pangkor. (6) Pompangs or purse-nets are attached to ropes which are tied to poles and driven into the sea. They are made of twine and bamboo. (7) Unbaited hooks are used for catching big fish without scales such as shark and skate. (8) Baited hooks, rawa and siring (wading-nets) are exempt from registration. About ¼ of the fishing are carried out in the Colonial waters and ¾ in international waters, i.e., beyond the three-mile limit. This ¾ is confined to fishing by means of seine and drift nets and baited and unbaited hooks. All fishing by means of fishing stakes are carried in the Colonial waters. Fishing is carried on not for export but for local consumption. Even salted fish do not go beyond rubber estates which are in the Malay Peninsula. Fishing is carried out throughout the year and as the water is colder during the S W. Monsoon season fish come nearer to the shore and spawning grounds and the catches are more plentiful than during the N. E. Monsoon season.

7.—SUMMARY OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT.

7.—A summarised statement of any developments in the agricultural, forestal, fishing, mining, and other industries of the Colony during the year under review, with a statement as to progress up to date. A special account should be given of Government grants or other action for the development of the natural resources and industries of the Colony.

Singapore

Penang Government has granted loans of small sums to Padi planters as an assistance and encouragement for the cultivation of padi. Good results have been obtained.
